Bearing Witness . . . Bringing Hope

Nancy Wang performing Bittersweet: A Chinese American Daughter's Legacy. A woman celebrates the challenges and accomplishments of her immigrant family and makes peace with her mother's memory.

Robert Kikuchi-Yngojo joins Nancy to perform a traditional Asian folktale.

Rev. Robert Jones and his wife, Sr. Bernice, blend music and stories to create a tapestry of American history (with a special emphasis on African American and Civil Rights stories) and a celebration of the rich diversity that is America today.

Susan O'Halloran shares a story you might not have heard about September 11, 2001 when people of Chicago (including participation by Maria High School students) came together to stand with their neighbors who were Muslims.

Concert starts promptly at 10 am. Please arrive by latest 9:45 am. Doors open at 9:30 am. Buses can let students off at the main entrance on California Avenue door and park in rear parking lot east of the school.
